Native American History Summer Workshop

This program for elementary, middle and high school history teachers and is a collaboration between the UCI History Project and the UCI American Indian Resource Program. Teachers will have an opportunity to deepen their knowledge of Native American history with presentations by both historians and teacher leaders. Our goal is to reframe the US history narrative that has excluded Native American voices. We will work together to open spaces for Native American points of view, which will allow us to develop and share model lessons centered on Native American history and that are aligned to the new Framework.

June 25th-27th, 2018
9:00am - 3:00pm

Location: UC Irvine

To register:
https://tinyurl.com/uci-NAsummer
Continuing Education Units available for a fee.